History Is Repeating Itself! Can You Say Back To The Future?

100 years ago, the majority of all physicians dispensed medication to their patients. That has since changed over time with less than 7% of all physicians dispensing medicine to their patient today. Economics, low cost generic drugs, and technology is about to change all of that.

It's not a question if but when you will decide to dispense!

Most physicians are not even aware that the opportunity exists or is available to them. With the average prescription card co-payment for generic drugs pushing $15 to $20 or more, the time to consider point of care dispensing is right now!

The $5 bottle that turns into $15!

Our Repackaging facility is a federally licensed drug repackager, licensed by the FDA and DEA. We repackage prescription and OTC medications, in sealed ready to dispense "unit of use" packages. We enable our clients to dispense only the highest quality pharmaceuticals directly to the patient at the point of care in the same time that it takes to dispense and document a sample.
